This project involves analyzing a sales dataset from a store with branches around the world. The goal is to provide a detailed report on sales transactions, including data cleaning, visualization, and segmentation. The final output will include interactive sales reports and visualizations that help stakeholders understand sales performance across different dimensions such as country, region, and market.